

Re: Cody Dalton

As a professor here at Full Sail University, I teach production in the world of web development. Before joining the school I was a Sr Producer at Disney. What we like to do here at the school is show students how production works behind the scenes. I interact with students toward the final stage of our web degree by regularly checking in on their progress. Over several months I get to know our soon-to-be alumni and become familiar with their abilities.

One thing I would like to mention about Cody, is his determination to be his best. I saw him take on the challenge of both managing and developing a project on his own. He was detailed in his work, always professional, and great at communication. In fact, he is someone I would hire based on the way he interacted with us and progressed here at school. It is always a pleasure to have a student that takes his work seriously, and challenges himself as Cody does.

Incidentally, the project Cody worked on also had the intention of helping others be their best. He has my recommendation because of that caring spirit — toward his work, and our world. Feel free to reach out to me directly if I can be of any help regarding Cody and his time in our web program. I can be reached at the contact information listed below. Take care.
